Take a walk: It's good for physical and mental health

Today, an extraordinary walk will happen like a wave from east to west of the globe covering many time zones to bring a simple message – walking is good!

It is known as the TAFISA World Walking Day, an event started in 1991 by The Association for International Sports For All, where people walked at 10 a.m., their time, passing the virtual baton to the walkers in the next country and creating a 24-hour relay across the globe.

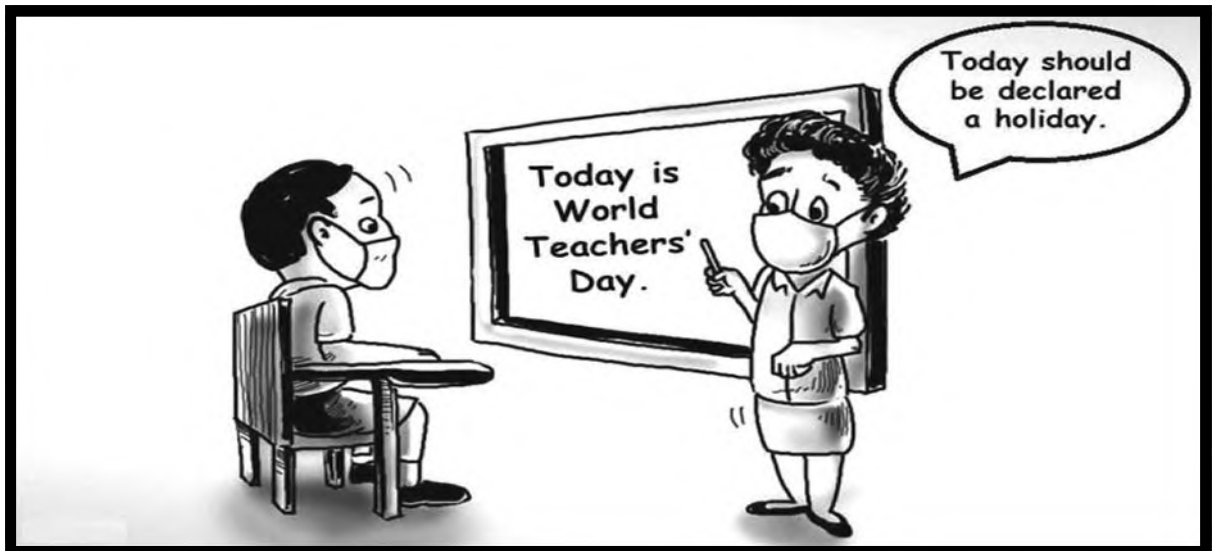

In 2021, people from 86 countries joined World Walking Day, and this year, organizers foresee more participants who will raise awareness on the benefits of walking, sports, and physical activity.

In over three decades, millions of people from over 160 countries have made a habit of walking together on the first Sunday of October, turning it into World Walking Day. TAFISA's global strategy to fight what it calls the "worldwide physical inactivity epidemic" is carried by its slogan, "For a better world through sport for all."

The first Sunday of October is not the only annual walking day. In the U.S., there is a National Walking Day observed on the first Wednesday of April sponsored by the American Heart Association. It is also "a call-to-action to increase physical activity by starting with a 30-minute walk during the work day."

There are many movements to call attention to the benefits of walking, the simplest exercise which does not require skill as the body is made to walk. It's such a simple human activity which starts with putting one foot in front of the other, repeated many times at one's pace.

The reminders on the benefits of walking are being sounded repeatedly these days because many people had become physically inactive during the past two years of the Covid pandemic. While it's beginning to look like the old days are back, with students back in school, businesses in full operation, and even traffic stalling mobility, one worrisome condition remains – inactive children and young adults glued to their gadgets.

It's a condition which health experts say is contributing to the problem of physical inactivity which can breed an unhealthy body and mind, resulting in loss of productivity, and a strain on the country's health system.

Taking a walk is the simplest way to start getting people out of physical inactivity.

Many studies have proven that walking at least 30 minutes a day is effective in preventing many illnesses, among them diabetes, obesity, and cardiovascular disease. On top of boosting physical health, walking has also been proven to enhance mental health.

Walking is an instant mood-booster. Our bodies get more oxygen which gives more energy and puts one in a better mood. Even a 15-minute daily walk will have a significant impact on one's mood throughout the day.

Better mood also comes from better sleep which walking can improve. Health experts recommend that "even a 20 to 30-minute walk in the fresh air can help improve the quality of sleep."

The most popular benefit of walking regularly is controlling weight gain. Looking good boosts confidence. It's the start of feeling good and thinking better.

Another benefit of walking is it gives many opportunities to appreciate the environment with family and friends. The immediate effect of a walk like that is a happy feeling.

In the Philippines, as well as in many other countries, there have been initiatives to establish a walking day at least once a week by closing specific areas to cars to encourage people to walk around. That initiative should extend to an annual event held throughout the country to create more awareness on the many benefits of a simple walk. It's the cheapest way to a healthy population.

Why not start a Philippine National Walking Day?

5. Plaintiff needs a Three Hundred Thirty Six (336) square meter portion of the subject property, identified and denominated as Lot 370-J-5-B for the construction of the MCTEP R1 Extension Expressway, Segment 5, a national government infrastructure

13. Section 4 of R.A. No. 8974 lays down the guidelines in expropriation proceedings as follows:

Section 4. Guidelines for Expropriation Proceedings.- Whenever it is necessary to acquire real property for the right-of-way, site or location for any national government infrastructure project through expropriation, the appropriate implementing agency shall initiate expropriation proceedings before the proper court under the following guidelines:

a) Upon filing of the complaint, and after due notice to the defendant, the implementing agency shall immediately pay the owner of the property the amount equivalent to the sum of (1) one hundred percent (100%) of the value of the property based on the current relevant zonal valuation of the Bureau of Internal Revenue (BIR); and (2) the value of the improvements and/or structures as determined under Section 7 hereof:

XXX XXX XXX

Upon compliance with the guidelines above-mentioned, the Court shall immediately issue to the implementing agency an order to take possession of the property and start the implementation of the project.¹

Before the Court can issue a writ of possession, the implementing agency shall present to the court a certificate of availability of funds from the proper official concerned.

16. In Capitol Steel Corporation vs Phividec Industrial Authority², it was held that the issuance of a writ of possession is a ministerial duty of the Honorable Court Upon the plaintiff's compliance with the guidelines set forth in Section 4 of R.A. No. 8974, thus:

Upon compliance with the requirements, a petitioner in an expropriation case, in this case the respondent, is entitled to writ of possession as a matter of right and it becomes the ministerial duty of the trial court to forthwith issue the writ of possession. No hearing is required and the Court neither exercises its discretion or judgment in determining the amount of the provisional value of the properties to be expropriated as the legislature has fixed the amount under Section 4 of R.A. No. 9874.3

17. It is also imperative for the protection of the interest of the government vis-à-vis its real rights over the subject property that the corresponding writ of possession issued in the present case be entered in the Primary Entry Book of the Registry of Deeds of Cavite and, thereafter, annotated in the space provided in its Registration Book pursuant to Section 69 of Presidential Decree No. 1529, otherwise known as the "Property Registration Decree".

"Facilitating sustainable development is one of the core activities of FR Foundation and we support this program to further promote environmental stewardship, preservation and the economic development among communities. We are delighted to partner with SM Foundation who has an extensive experience in community development and tree planting programs in the Philippines," Mr. Yoshio Ishida, Secretary-General of FR Foundation said.

The project is also seen enhancing prospects for eco-tourism and in turn, job creation for the community.

"This endeavor will definitely boost the eco-tourism here in Nasugbu moving forward with the flowering trees creating a picturesque view of the property. This will promote not just Hamilo Coast, but also the local community with no other property hosting this vast array of Palawan Cherry and other flowering trees," Franklin M. Bolalin, Assistant Vice President for Hamilo Estate Management said.

Hamilo Coast looks after one of the largest mangrove forests in the province of Batangas in partnership with WWF Philippines since 2007. The 24-hectare mangrove belt is covered by lush 50,000 mangrove trees.

Three of Hamilo Coast's coves, namely Pico de Loro, Etayo and Santelmo, have been declared as Marine Protected Areas by the (Organization) since 2009.

The site serves as a marine sanctuary to an exuberant diversity of marine animals and a resilient locale for migratory and unique species of birds, now totaling 96, which includes the vulnerable Philippine eagle-owl (Bubo philippensis).

The presence of more trees in these areas will act as natural protection against erosion, and absorption of planet-warming greenhouse gases.

Grow Trees Community is in support of the SM Green Movement that aims to improve the quality of life of communities through sustainable solutions to promote a green planet, green living and a green culture.

FR Foundation focuses on promoting research designed to help make the world a better place, spurring technological development, nurturing human resources, and supporting socially vulnerable individuals or groups.

(One of our plans is to restore the island and properly preserve its historical relics to boost tourism of our city.)

Mayor Chua said, "We are excited for you to see the beauty of Corregidor Island and I believe that slowly our city will be recognized and our economy will be restored to being 1st class."

Ha also says that for a long time, the city government had not utilized the historic site and did not participate in its development.

"With the cooperation of Councilor Nash Aguas, Chair, Committee on Tourism, our goal is to make tourism shine in our city," the mayor said.

Corregidor Island is 37 kilometers or 19.9784 nautical miles off the shores of Cavite city proper in PN, Samonte Park, and places second to the most visited tourist destinations in the province despite its geographical location having to travel by ferry boat. It is estimated that it can provide a huge tourism income when properly restored and promoted. (RBF/PIA-Cavite)
