The Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE) in Cavite on Wednesday disbursed over PHP6.12 million to support 1,178 individuals in the municipality of Tanza, who have been impacted by the temporary fishing ban due to the oil spill in Bataan.

In a phone interview on Wednesday, DOLE-Cavite Provincial Director Marivic Martinez said the funds had been allocated under the Tulong Panghanapbuhay sa Ating Disadvantaged/Displaced Workers (TUPAD) cash-for-work program.

The beneficiaries whose livelihoods have been disrupted by the fishing ban received salaries for their temporary employment. DOLE RELEASES • 5

Marcoleta's Investigation on Offshore Accounts Cast Doubt on Comelec Chairman Ahead of Elections

Manila, August 1, 2024 — Congressman Rodante Marcoleta has exposed alleged offshore bank accounts belonging to Comelec Chairman George Erwin Mojica Garcia. These allegations, if true, raise serious questions about the integrity of the upcoming national elections and the transparency of the electoral process.

In a detailed press conference, Marcoleta explained that his verification team, with international volunteers' assistance, confirmed these offshore accounts' existence. A volunteer from New York deposited $100 into two accounts under the name George Erwin Mojica Garcia in the Cayman Islands, conclusively verifying their existence. This revelation comes after Garcia had consistently denied having any offshore accounts. MARCOLETA • 5

MOMSHIE women's assoc. in Laurel, Batangas trained in using charcoal briquetting tech for livelihood

Members of the MOMSHIE Women's Association in Laurel, Batangas now have the skills and knowledge to produce charcoal briquettes as a sustainable source of income after a two-day technology training held at their production facility in Brgy. Ticub, Laurel, Batangas, July 29-30.

The training, organized by the Department of Science and Technology (DOST)-Batangas, was designed to transfer the charcoal briquetting technology developed by the Forest Products Research and Development Institute (DOST-FPRDI) to MOMSHIE women's association as their livelihood venture. This initiative also seeks to convert agro-wastes such as coconut shells, husks, and other biomass materials from their community into sustainable charcoal briquettes.

MOMSHIE women members were trained in the operation of machines and the utilization of biomass to produce charcoal briquettes. The training also included demonstrations of burning biomass using a drum kiln, mixing charcoal fines with starch, and molding the mixture into briquettes.

This training is part of the science and technology-based interventions under the DOST CALABARZON's Grants-in-Aid Community-based project for MOMSHIE. Through this project, the association received a complete set of charcoal briquetting equipment, including 4 charcoaling drum kilns, 2 charcoal briquetting machines, a charcoal fines-binder mixer, and a crusher. They also received funding for packaging and label design development to help them start their own charcoal briquetting business. The goal is to empower MOMSHIE members to generate additional income while promoting sustainable and eco-friendly practices in their community.

DOST-FPRDI experts Engr. Amando Allan DM

Bondad, Senior Science Research Specialist; Ms. Angela I. Balais, Science Research Specialist I; and Cheyenne Marqueses, Science Research Assistant, served as resource speakers during the training.

Ms. Rechell De Villa, President of MOMSHIE, thanked DOST-Batangas and DOST-FPRDI for their support and guidance in helping establish their charcoal briquetting business. She expressed their commitment to fully utilize the equipment received to produce high-quality charcoal briquettes and contribute to a more sustainable environment. "Sobra po ang aming pasasalamat sa DOST dahil sa tulong na aming natanggap at pagsusumikapang po naming mga kababaihan na mapakinabangan namin bilang hanapbuhay," she said. (By John Maico Hernandez)

To MEND and Defend: Mauban Unites for Sustainable Development, Climate Justice

Quezon City, Philippines – A powerful alliance was formed last August 4, 2024, as the Philippine Movement for Climate Justice (PMCJ) united organizations and concerned individuals in Mauban, Quezon, to tackle the ongoing climate crisis head-on. The Mauban for Environment and Development (MEND) held a pivotal general assembly, setting a clear course for preserving Mauban's rich legacy, and safeguarding its environmental integrity.

MEND's founding organizations are: Heritage Houses, Unahin Natin Lagi ang Damayan at Pagkakaisa Para sa Maubanin (UNLAD), Marginal Fisherfolks of Daungan (Fisher Folks Alliance), Kapit-Bisig (Labor Group residing on Pantalan Port), Ang Saliwsiw, Yes-O (MSEMSAT), KAYA NATIN! Youth-Mauban (Youth Sector), SSLG Pastrana, SSLG, MSEMSAT, The Ridge, Kabataan Partylist Quezon, Brgy. Luya-Luya, and Mauban MENRO.

"There is a need to organize a multi-sectoral network/alliance that will advocate for environmental protection and climate justice, with a vision and mission of advancing our communities towards sustainable development," PMCJ Luzon Coordinator Erwin Puhawan said.

Like other cities and municipalities, Mauban faces severe impacts from climate change. "The recent Aghon typhoon is a grim reminder of the reality of climate emergency. The flooding and landslides caused by these typhoons have devastated homes and livelihoods, necessitating immediate and sustained action," MEND Convenor Cedrick Mariano said.

MEND's core values are inclusivity and solidarity, respect for human rights and rights of nature; advocate for climate justice, social and sustainable development; watchdog for good governance; environmental defenders and climate justice advocates; and promote people empowerment and people-centered development.

MEND Co-Founder Chit Dy Tan highlighted the urgency of organizing such assemblies and discussions. "Wala na tayong panahon para sabihing, 'Saka na'. Wala na tayong panahon para tanungin kung 'bakit' at 'kailan'. Kailangan na nating kumilos ngayon. Nariyan ang kabataan na nag-oorganisa [...] kaya dapat tayong sumuporta sa kanila." [We don't have time to say, 'Let's just do it tomorrow'. We don't have time to ask 'why' and 'when'. We have to do it now. The youth are pushing for the organization, so we must support], Ms. Tan said.

Yesterday, August 5, 2024, convenors of the MEND had a consultative meeting with Mauban Municipal Councilor Ken Llamas. He reaffirmed his support for the ongoing fight for climate justice and the transition to renewable energy. Hon. Llamas opened the possibilities of partnerships with PMCJ and other concerned groups, aiming to push for promoting politics in protecting the environment.

"As the climate crisis continues to devastate communities, it is imperative to campaign for climate emergency not just by different climate movements but with local governments leading climate actions and solutions. LGUs have a significant role in mobilizing its constituents, and realizing knowledge and experiences of its residents, who are the primary ones affected by the climate crisis," PMCJ National Coordinator Ian Rivera said. #MENDMauban #ClimateJustice #RenewableEnergyNow

Olympic champion Carlos Yulo: Authentic Filipino youth hero and role model

The Filipino nation burst in jubilation as gymnast Carlos Edriel Yulo won the gold medal in the floor exercise in the 2024 Paris Olympics last Saturday, Aug. 3, duplicating the feat achieved by weightlifter Hidilyn Diaz when she brought home the country's first-ever Olympic gold medal at the Tokyo games in 2021.

The new Olympic champion also bagged the gold medal in the same event at the World Artistic Gymnastics Championships in Stuttgart, Germany in 2019. A year earlier, he became the first Filipino and the first Southeast Asian gymnast to win a medal in the world championships in Qatar, earning a bronze for his feat. In 2021, he won his second world championship gold medal in the vault event of the competition held in Japan. This was after his debut at the Covid-delayed games in Tokyo.

Carlos Yulo's Olympic odyssey started at the age of seven, as he began tumbling at a playground in their neighborhood on Leveriza street in Malate, Manila. As narrated in published reports, his grandfather brought him to the nearby Rizal Memorial Sports Complex where he trained at the Gymnastics Association of the Philippines facilities.

A year later, he began competing at the Palarong Pambansa held in Tarlac City as a member of the National Capital Region delegation that won the team championship. In 2013, he moved up to junior-level competition where he harvested medals.

Then in 2016, he began training in Japan with support from the Federation Internationale Gymnastique and the MVP Sports Foundation that paved his pathways at the senior level of international competition. He credits his stint in Japan as being instrumental in enabling him to become truly competitive in global contests.

The Filipino youth could learn significant lessons from Carlos Yulo's exemplary athletic career.

Recalling how he fared at his first Olympic competition in which he failed to win a medal, he disclosed that he was deeply disappointed and disheartened — considering that he had painstakingly prepared for the event while enduring the loneliness of being separated from his family and friends. In a video documentary, he said: "I prayed hard for guidance to overcome the loneliness of being abroad, for trust in my coach, faith in God."

Eventually, he said, he realized: "As long as you keep trying, even if you make mistakes, that's achievement and progress." This enhanced his sense of self-worth and self-confidence, noting that "true growth comes from hardship and realizing that your time will come."

He thanks his coaches — past and present — including Aldrin Castañeda, who had coached him during his junior days; Gymnastics Association of the Philippines Cynthia Carrión; and Japanese mentor Munehiro Kugimiya.

Indeed, Carlos Yulo's time has come — and he has emerged as an authentic Filipino youth hero and role model. As he basks in the glory of his victory, he stands as a worthy role model for embodying the modified Olympic motto: "Citius, Altius, Fortius — Communiter" and "Faster, Higher, Stronger — Together" that underscores the importance of humanity's solidarity in the continuing quest for excellence.

Constipation: Mga Pagkaing Lunas

Para makaiwas sa pagtitibi o constipation, subukan ang mga payong ito. Uminom ng 8 hanggang 10 basong tubig bawat araw. Igalawgalaw ang iyong katawan. Sanayan ang sarili na dumumi sa takdang oras.

Malaking tulong ang mga prutas at gulay para lumambot ang dumi. Kumain ng mga prutas tulad ng papaya, pakwan at peras. Kumain din ng iba't-ibang gulay na mataas sa fiber. Heto ang puwede niyong subukan:

1. Berdeng gulay tulad ng kangkong, spinach, pechay, malunggay at talbos ng kamote. Mataas ang gulay sa fiber na makatutulong sa pagiging regular ng pagdumi. Ang spinach ay may sangkap na magnesium na nagpapabilis ng galaw ng bituka para makarumi.

2. Okra — Sa mga gulay, kakaiba ang epekto ng okra para mapalambot ang dumi. Ang okra ay may malapot na likido na nagpapadulas sa pagdaan ng dumi. Ang balat ng okra ay mataas sa fiber na nagbibigay ng anyo (o porma) sa dumi. Dahil dito, mas bibilis ang paggalaw ng dumi. Piliin lamang ang okra na wala pang 4 na pulgada (4 inches) para malambot pa ito kainin.

3. Oatmeal — Puwede kang kumain ng isang tasang oatmeal sa umaga. May sangkap itong beta-glucan (isang soluble fiber) na nagtatanggal ng kolesterol sa ating katawan at makatutulong din sa pagdumi.

4. Yogurt — Ang yogurt ay may taglay na mabuting bacteria (good bacteria) na may benepisyo sa ating tiyan at bituka.

5. Tubig — Napakahalaga ang pag-inom ng sapat na tubig para sa mga nagtitibi. Ang mga pagkaing mataas sa fiber, tulad ng gulay, prutas at oatmeal, ay kailangang humalo muna sa tubig para maging malambot ang dumi. Subukang uminom ng 8 hanggang 10 basong tubig o likido sa maghapon. Kapag kulang ka sa tubig, siguradong titigas ang iyong dumi.

May iba pang pagkaing mataas sa fiber tulad ng brown rice. Pero kung hindi ka sanay sa pagkain nito ay baka magtae ka naman. Dahan-dahanin lang muna ang pagkain nito para masanay ang iyong tiyan. Sana ay makatulong itong mga payo para malunasan ang iyong pagtitibi. Good luck.

During the payout at the Capipisa Covered Court in Barangay West Capipisa, each beneficiary received PHP5,200 for 10 days of work.

"The TUPAD beneficiaries are engaged in coastal cleanup efforts in their area," Martinez said. She also reassured other oil-spill affected fisherfolk in the municipalities of Maragondon and Ternate that assistance would be provided to them, as the fishing ban remains in effect in several coastal towns in the province.

Martinez said assessments are underway in other coastal areas, including Bacoor, Rosario, Noveleta, Kawit, and Cavite City to determine further assistance needed.

The next round of TUPAD payouts is scheduled on Aug. 9 in the town of Naic, she said.

The oil spill started on July 25 after MT

Terranova sank off Limay, Bataan, carrying 1.4 million liters of industrial fuel oil. (PNA)

Marcoleta further detailed that Garcia had issued a waiver of bank deposits to the Anti-Money Laundering Council (AMLC) and the National Bureau of Investigation (NBI). Still, no reports have been forthcoming from these agencies. Due to the lack of response, Marcoleta and his team took it upon themselves to investigate. He noted that, following a press release on June 26 highlighting these allegations, the accounts were closed between June 28 and July 15, with transactions transferred to accounts with foreign-sounding names. This swift closure of accounts and transfer of funds heightened Marcoleta's suspicions.

Chairman Garcia had previously dismissed the allegations as a "demolition job," but Marcoleta argued that the closure of accounts suggests otherwise. He emphasized that without a basis for the claims, there would be no need for such drastic measures. The implications of these actions are serious, potentially undermining public confidence in the electoral process.

Marcoleta stressed the importance of investigating these allegations to ensure the integrity of the upcoming elections. He argued that the credibility of the electoral process is at stake and that a clean, orderly, and true conduct of elections is essential for the democratic rights of Filipinos. Instead of pursuing an impeachment process, which would be lengthy and potentially unresolved by the time of the elections, Marcoleta has filed a House Resolution to initiate a comprehensive and expedited investigation into these accounts.

He called for a swift and thorough investigation by the House of Representatives to verify Garcia's claims and to determine if the Chairman should remain in his position to oversee the elections. Marcoleta highlighted that if these allegations are substantiated, it could have far-reaching consequences for the credibility of the Comelec and the upcom-

Marcoleta also addressed the procurement of the MIRU system, questioning its reliability and the potential impact on the elections. He suggested that existing ballot-counting machines could suffice and emphasized the need for transparency in the electoral process.

In conclusion, Marcoleta urged the public to stay vigilant and informed as the investigation unfolds. He reiterated his commitment to transparency and accountability in governance, emphasizing that the integrity of the electoral process is paramount. The outcome of this investigation will be crucial in maintaining public trust in the elections and ensuring that Filipinos can freely and fairly choose their leaders.

"We consider the Philippine Red Cross as one of our primary partners in this objective," Lorenzana noted.

Leading the ceremony

were PRC Chairman and CEO Richard Gordon, Secretary General Dr. Gwen Pang, and Cavite Chapter Chairman Gilbert Remulla, alongside other dignitaries, including the mayors and representatives of Cavite's municipalities and cities.

According to Gordon, the new building will be "another step forward for the Red Cross as we extend our blood, health, and welfare services to more people in Cavite, and build a stronger Red Cross network in the country."

"Providing greater access to blood for Filipinos from all walks of life is one of our lifelong missions, and we will make sure that no request for blood is turned away and all blood needs are met," he added.

"This will also improve the Red Cross' capacity to deliver services to the people of Cavite and other nearby regions. Together, we are building a future where support and aid are readily available to people," said

Dr. Pang.

"We hope that with the construction of this facility, it makes your mission more manageable and effective. We look forward to strengthening our partnership with you and collaborating on more projects in the future," Lorenzana concluded.

In his keynote address, DOST Secretary Dr. Renato U. Solidum, Jr. emphasized DOST's collaboration with local government units (LGUs) to provide solutions and open opportunities, stressing the importance of developing fit-for-purpose solutions for LGUs. Dr. Solidum outlined DOST's four pillars that support the socio-economic agenda of the administration and the ultimate goal of achieving smart and sustainable cities and communities across all local governments. National Survey

A key finding of the survey is the high value voters place on the personal qualities of candidates. The most crucial attribute, according to the survey, is having a "heart for the poor," highlighting the electorate's desire for leaders who demonstrate empathy and a commitment to addressing the needs of the marginalized.

Erwin Tulfo's strong performance in the survey underscores his deep connection with the public, largely attributed to his advocacy work and prominent media presence. The presence of seasoned politicians like Tito Sotto, Ping Lacson, and Imee Marcos suggests that experience and established political careers continue to be significant factors for voters.

Paolo Duterte's position in the top five reflects his family's ongoing influence in Philippine politics, while Congressman Dante Marcoleta's high ranking points to his growing prominence in the political landscape.

The survey also reveals a diverse array of candidates, including veteran politicians such as Pia Cayetano and Francis Tolentino, alongside well-known personalities like Manny Pacquiao and Willie Ong.

This diversity reflects a broad spectrum of support across various sectors of society.

As the election season approaches, the emphasis on candidates with a "heart for the poor" indicates a shift in voter priorities towards compassionate and socially responsible leadership. This trend is expected to shape campaign strategies and voter engagement efforts in the months ahead.

The SWS survey offers valuable insights into current voter preferences, setting the stage for a dynamic and competitive senatorial race. The focus on empathy and social responsibility among candidates may signal a new direction in the political landscape, where the welfare of the Filipino people takes center stage.

Positioning itself as the Smart Industropolis of the South, Iligan City is a haven of numerous partnerships with the science department.

"Since 2022, we have implemented robust economic initiatives and foster international collaborations. Striving significant growth, stability and investor's confidence have returned and our digitized system bolsters public trust", said Mayor Siao.

Iligan is one of the 80 pilot local government units of DOST's Smart and Sustainable Communities Program, or the SMART Program. The program is anchored on digital transformation and resiliency through technology and innovation.

Under this program, DOST 10 supported the funding for eCitizen's PH App of LGU Iligan's Township Innovation Management Application (TIMApp). eCitizen's app empowers citizens with features like reporting emergencies, accessing government services, and connecting with emergency hotlines.

"In DOST, we believe that science, technology, and innovation can provide solutions and open opportunities for cities and communities. It can potentially be a transformative tool that accelerates growth and brings sectors together for a bright future", said Sec. Renato U. Solidum in his message of support delivered by Cordillera Administrative Region Regional Director and the Project Leader of SMART Program, Dr. Nancy Bantog.

In 2023, the City hosted the Regional Science, Technology, and Innovation Week (RSTW), which featured technologies and innovations that can promote human well-being, wealth creation and protection, and sustainability.

Also part of the SMART Program initiatives, key officials from the LGU participated in the International Smart City Exposition and Networking Engagement (iSCENE) in Cauayan, Isabela City, in March

Months later, Iligan City hosted the Smart Cities Innovation Workshop, championing innovative solutions through dialogue and workshops. LGU Iligan, through its Center for Digital Iligan, Innovation, and Sustainability, partnered with Smart Cities Council Director Kok-Chin Tay.

Iligan City posed as a model of an inclusive, people-centric smart City for prosperity, jobs, security, and peace.

Recently, the Department of Information and Communications Technology (DICT) also recognized the City for its outstanding achievements in the Digital Cities Program. It was honored as one of the 19 digital cities in the Philippines.

DOST 10, through its Provincial Science and Technology Office in Lanao del Norte, remains steadfast in its commitment to fostering innovation and economic growth in Iligan City. (Melody Anne H. Donio, DOST Lanao del Norte)
