PH Climate groups, communities, demand at least $5 trillion annually from rich nations to finance clean energy sources, cover costs and endure impacts of climate crisis

Quezon City, Philippines – The Philippine Movement for Climate Justice (PMCJ) stands in solidarity with gravely affected communities in the country, and other poor nations, as they denounce the big polluters of the Global North, to demand reparations through climate financing.

Climate Finance refers to the funds designated for climate adaptation, mitigation and the necessary energy shift to clean and renewables. "In the Philippines, energy transition and disaster response and mitigation are the two main uses of climate finance. It is the payment of the climate debt owed by rich developed countries in expropriating the fair share of the atmospheric space of developing and least developed countries and excess burden they caused in destroying the carrying capacity of the earth," PMCJ National Coordinator Ian Rivera explained.

Last July, Super Typhoon Carina (international name: Gaemi) inflicted severe damage to multiple local and national industries. ST Carina have left around Php4. 73 billion worth of agricultural damage, and killed 36 people according to the latest reports as of writing. Floods, and landslides, easily inundate the country with just an overnight of continuous rainfall. This is the "new normal", with which climate-concerned organizations are stressing as deeply alarming.

"The USA (United States of America), for example, is responsible for around 20% of the total greenhouse gas emissions globally. These rich countries develop their economies at a huge ecological and human cost. They must be held accountable," Rivera argued.

In addition to exacerbating these losses, decades of inaction and unfulfilled promises on the part of the governments in the Global North have intensified the egregious inequities and inequalities that affect economies, communities, and ecosystems, according to Lidy Nacpil of Asian Peoples' Movement on Debt and Development (APMDD). "This year is a pivotal year for Climate Finance. At COP29 (United Nations Climate Change Conference) in Baku, critical decisions will be made to address the soaring costs of urgent climate action," Nacpil said.

Global North governments provide at least US$5 trillion per year to the Global South in public finance. This amount must be revised upwards regularly as needed and be considered as merely an initial payment toward the much larger total climate debt owed by the Global North, as pointed out by the climate justice groups. Climate Finance must be public and should not be driven by profit intrinsic to private investments and corporations. Philippine communities, whose livelihood and lives are endangered and disrupted, continuously campaign against fossil fuel power plants pushed by big private companies. Local climate groups also strengthen their fight against big funders, such as the World Bank, as they finance fossil fuel projects in the country.

"As President BBM takes pride of Philippines being selected to host the Loss and Damage fund of the UNFCCC, it is imperative to declare a national climate emergency, and heed his constituents' plight against fossil fuels. If the government can't commit to its own vows for clean energy and total fossil fuel phaseout, the Filipinos will not be hampered in joining the global fight to demand atonement from rich nations through climate finance and reparation," Rivera said.

PMCJ and other climate justice organizations are participating in this year's Global Week of Action against fossil fuels, highlighting disastrous effects of coal and fossil gas to vulnerable communities, and campaigning for just transition to renewable energy.

Transforming PH civil service to achieve world class excellence

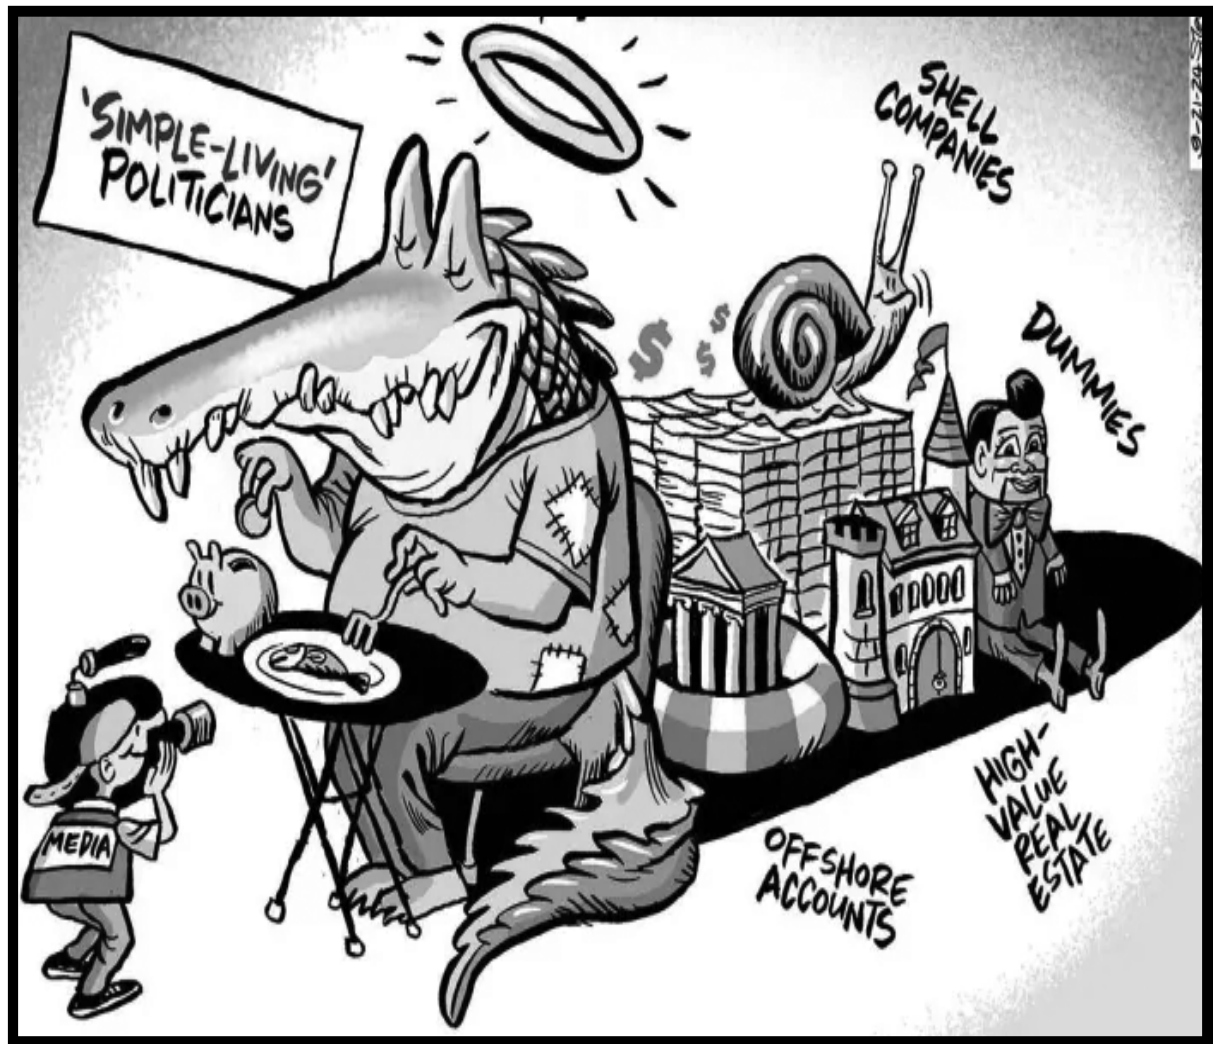

A competent, capable and dedicated civil service corps is a vital element in effective governance, that is, in turn, the key driver in the growth and prosperity of a nation.

This September marks the observance of the 124th anniversary of the Philippine civil service with the theme, Transforming Public Service in the Next Decade: Honing Agile and Future Ready Servant-Heroes. Evidently, the Civil Service Commission (CSC) aspires to eventually join the elite ranks of countries that, by dint of exemplary governance, have attained preeminent prosperity. This year's theme beams the spotlight on capacity building that starts with individual talent development.

For such individuals to thrive, an environment that fosters excellence is a vital prerequisite. Several national agencies and local government units levelled up their organizational capabilities by installing rigorous processes of quality management. This is pursuant to the Republic Act 9013, the Philippine Quality Award Act which is aligned with world-class programs such as the Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award established by the US Congress in 1987.

Among those that have received recognition for Commitment to Quality Management are the National Statistics Office, presently known as the Philippine Statistics Authority (PSA), the Technical Education and Skills Development Administration (TESDA), the Department of Science and Technology (DOST) Region XI and Region IV-A offices, the Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE) Region XII, and the National Economic and Development Authority (NEDA). Among local government units, the City Government of Marikina has been cited for Proficiency in Quality Management. Cited for Commitment to Quality Management were the City Government of Makati and the City Government of Tanauan.

The Civil Service Commission (CSC) has institutionalized an annual Honor Awards Program comprising of the Presidential Lingkod ng Bayan (Servant of the Nation), the Outstanding Public Officials and Employees Award or Dangal ng Bayan, and the Pag-asa ng Bayan, or Hope of the Nation.

The Presidential Lingkod ng Bayan recognizes "exceptional contributions through innovative ideas or impactful actions of national significance, particularly in the areas of public interest, security and patrimony." The Dangal ng Bayan Award is given to those who have exemplified adherence to the Code of Conduct and Ethical Standards for Public Officials and Employees. The Pag-asa ng Bayan Award is given to those who have contributed to beneficial programs in specific government agencies.

As it aspires toward attaining greater heights, the CSC may also wish to benchmark itself with global excellence standards such as the International Civil Service Effectiveness Index (InCISE) established by the University of Oxford's Blavatnik School of Government in 2019. The InCISE rated 38 countries on "(c)ore executive functions including policy-making and fiscal and financial management services" and "mission support facilities including human resource management (HR) and information technology."

The top 10 countries in its honor roll were: England, New Zealand, Canada, Finland, Australia, Denmark, Norway, Netherlands, South Korea and Sweden. Particularly instructive is the example set by South Korea which "takes the top spot in transparency of public spending and budget practices." It also excelled in human resource management. Such excellence in governance manifests the existence of a vibrant meritocracy.

Truly, the CSC can achieve much by aligning itself with best practices in talent development and management that enables the country's civil servants to attain world-class competencies.

Lice in the Delicate Parts of the Body

Lice sticks to skin or hair and sucks blood into delicate parts of the body. It gets in the sex. Lice can also go to chest hair, armpits, beard, eyebrows or eyelashes. Lice on the property is different from lice on the head.

Symptoms appear 5 days after you've contracted. Grab a magnifying glass and look at the hair on the delicate side. It's so itchy and you can see someone crawling in their hair and has lice seeds or eggs. Might be itchy and bruised from the lice bite.

If teenagers or children have this kind of lice, the parents should know why it happened because there might be abuse.

Gamutan:
1. The medicine is 1% permethrin lotion available in pharmacy.

2. Place in the palm and rub on the delicate side. Leave it for 10 minutes then rinse.
3. Repeat after 7 days if lice is still alive.
4. A partner should also be treated.

Murder of the Dog:
1. To remove lice, soak clothes, blankets or towels in hot water for 20 minutes. Lice doesn't die of

DOKTOR NG MASA

ni Dr. Willie Ong

soap and water alone.
2. Maybe shaving hair will help the delicate side.
3. Can vacuum the house and bleach the bathroom.

4. For those unwashable items, lock the items in plastic for 2 weeks, because lice cannot survive without blood.

The most effective prevention of property lice is to avoid having sex with different partners. Lice gets infected quickly when stuck. It clings to the hair but doesn't jump. Can't get it in a toilet or chair.

The doctor to go to is a skin doctor or dermatologist. When other part of the body like eyelashes go to ophthalmologists.

The visit aimed to introduce the "Innovation Science and Technology for Accelerating Regional Terchnology-Based Development" (iSTART) Project to LGU Angono. iSTART seeks to integrate science, technology, and innovation (STI) into local development plans, such as the Comprehensive Development Plan (CDP) and Comprehensive Land Use Plan (CLUP). This will help Angono strengthen its development initiatives by identifying gaps and incorporating relevant STI components.

During the meeting, ARD Barquilla provided a brief overview of iSTART and its connection to the Smart and Sustainable Communities Program.

He emphasized that iSTART's primary goal is to assist LGU Angono in crafting its own STI Plan, potentially during the workshop series or the mid-term review of their existing CDP.

Mr. Patrick Isaiah Abarra, Project Technical Assistant of DOST CALABARZON, further elaborated on the iSTART project background, pilot sites, and technical aspects, including how iSTART aligns with CDP/CLUP through a designated operational framework.

ARD Barquilla also outlined the next steps for LGU Angono if they decide to participate in the iSTART Project. He clarified that DOST will be covering the workshop series, while the LGU will be responsible for providing the venue and meals. Additionally, DOST can execute a Non-Disclosure Agreement (NDA) to ensure the confidentiality of data inputs from the LGU, its ofices, civil society organizations (CSOs), state universities and colleges (SUCs), barangay officials, private stakeholders, and other relevant parties.

The DOST team concluded their visit with a photo opportunity with Mayor Calderon. DOST CALABARZON and PSTO Rizal expressed optimism for the iSTART project's implementation in Angono, pending the review of the proposed Memorandum of Agreement. (By Raphael Dorutheo Martin A. San Antonio)

This was followed by a hearty lunch at Siglo Moderno Filipino, known for its modern takes on traditional Filipino dishes. They served the guests a meal they called “Lakbay Lokal Platter.” This special meal contains different local dishes with a twist from the provinces of Cavite: Laing Dinamita, Sisiglaw Salad, Himagsikan wings

(a local version of Buffalo wings), and more.

In the afternoon, guests were treated to the scenic beauty of Tagaytay with a stay at the iconic Taal Vista Hotel. More than just offering a luxurious retreat, the hotel enriched their experience with a captivating history walk tour, shedding light on the rich heritage of Tagaytay, the Taal Volcano, and the storied legacy of the hotel itself.

To end the day, they experienced the thrills of Sky Ranch Tagaytay before enjoying a delightful dinner at Suteki, a restaurant that features contemporary Japanese cuisine, adding a vibrant contrast to the day’s Filipino-themed meals.

Day 2: Delving Deep into the Culture of Maragondon

The adventure continued the second day, where they took the influencers to the charming town of Maragondon, Cavite, starting with a peaceful lunch at the “Alegria del Rio” Maragondon Balsa River Cruise.

After, they went on to visit one of the famous tourist spots around the city, the Bonifacio Trial House, where national hero Andres Bonifacio stood trial, giving them a deeper understanding of the area’s role in Philippine history.

To further enrich their experience, the participants joined a hands-on session at the Likhang Maragondon Bamboo Weaving Workshop, where they learnt weaving techniques from local artisans using bamboo as a material. Every one of the guests got to create their own placemats out of bamboo.

Weaving is part of Maragondon’s history and culture. As part of the community’s way of preserving this tradition, this workshop serves as a bridge between generations, ensuring that the rich heritage of Maragondon’s indigenous weaving techniques is passed down to younger artisans.

The day concluded with snacks at Lolo Claro’s Restaurant, providing a perfect relaxing ending to the two-day adventure.

Why We Do This

Biyaheng South Experiential Tour holds great significance in showcasing the vibrant culture, history, and hidden gems of South Luzon. However, we are not only promoting the scenic spots of South Luzon but also supporting the local economies of the provinces.

“This initiative is a testament to economic innovation and sustainable tourism development, enhancing tourism through accessibility and convenience for travelers. The goal is to create an environment where convenience complements the beauty and uniqueness of the destination, resulting in enjoyable, memorable, and convenient experiences for all,” Department of Tourism Region IV-A Director, Ms. Marites Castro, said.

“In honor of National Tourism Month, the Biyaheng South Experiential Tour shows our dedication to drive tourism and economic growth in the South. We are grateful for the continued support of the Department of Tourism (DOT) and Cavite Tourism; their partnership and shared vision have been instrumental in making this program a success. Together, let’s look forward to fostering sustainable tourism, contributing to the livelihood of local communities, and showcasing the treasures that lie just beyond our toll roads,” stated Arlette Capistrano, MPT South’s Vice President for Communication and Stakeholder Management.

Biyaheng South is MPT South’s tourism advocacy program that has made a significant impact by promoting its toll road networks, particularly CAVITEX, its C5 Link segment, and CALAX, as gateways to the tourist destinations of Southern Luzon. The program demonstrates how infrastructure not only can improve connectivity but also can serve as a catalyst for regional economic growth through tourism promotion.

MPT South is a subsidiary of Metro Pacific Tollways Corporation (MPTC), the infrastructure arm of Metro Pacific Investments Corporation (MPIC). Aside from the CALAX and CAVITEX networks of toll roads, MPTC’s domestic portfolio includes concessions for the North Luzon Expressway (NLEX), the NLEX Connector Road, the Subic-Clark-Tarlac Expressway (SCTEX), and the Cebu-Cordova Link Expressway (CCLEX) in Cebu.
