PMCJ on International Day of Clean Energy: Scrap Gas Law, Let Coal Die, Ramp Up Our Efforts for Renewables

We have just entered the new year yet the scrap of the year 2024 still lingers. Last year was a series of disastrous climate events for the Philippines. From the impossible heat wave during the first quarter of the year, to almost concerted major typhoons in the last quarters, the vulnerable communities are always the frontlines of its fury.

Today, January 26, The Philippine Movement for Climate Justice (PMCJ) strengthens its resolve with the global network, for the International Day of Clean Energy, to push for a planned and managed phaseout of fossil fuels, ramp up efforts to transition to clean energy—to demand urgent action in addressing the climate crisis the world is in right now.

The earth surpassed the 1.5°C threshold in 2024 as confirmed by the Copernicus Climate Change. Despite the expected severity, the government's approach to climate policy does not stand up to what is needed to face the crisis.

Last January 8, President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. signed the gas bill into law. It is being pushed as a transition fuel but, PMCJ has long been highlighting that gas, being a fossil fuel, is always associated with risks and volatility due to political and supply chain challenges. The government must recognize the urgency to focus on the renewable energy industry, over a fake transition fuel.

With most of the governments always falling short in addressing the existential threat of the planet and the people, subnational bodies and organizations have stepped up in taking initiatives to assist the most vulnerable communities.

Through grassroots-based movement and community engagement, there was a successful shift of public perception to transition into 100% RE. One of the most stimulating efforts in changing the narrative is to encourage local government units (LGU), and community-based organizations to act on their future by transitioning to cleaner energy sources through policy initiatives and programs.

The past year, PMCJ was able to encourage several provinces and municipalities to commit to transition their sources of energy; among the provinces were Albay, Misamis Oriental, and Mindoro Occidental. The most recent partnership was made last January 21, in the municipality of Sablayan in Mindoro Occidental.

These milestones strengthen our efforts in promoting RE solutions and in diminishing the country's reliance on fossil fuels. These efforts are a commanding call for the national government that a just transition to renewables is attainable.

A 2020 report by the International Renewable Energy Agency highlighted the potential of RE solutions in reducing reliance on fossil fuels and how likely it is to lead a more resilient, sustainable, and climate-safe future.

The government, and big fossil fuel companies, must stop offering false solutions. While we call on the government to continue to enforce the coal moratorium, now is the time to demand that it should be made permanent. At the same time, we urge for the scrapping of the law on gas and make the year 2025, the peak of the use of fossil fuels.

System Change, not Climate Change is what is needed for International Day of Clean Energy. #ClimateEmergency #ClimateJusticeNow #InternationalDayOfCleanEnergy

Addressing hunger and poverty: A call for comprehensive action

Poverty and hunger. These are pressing issues that remain in our country. Despite the strides in reducing poverty over the past two decades, poverty and hunger remain, and according to a recent SWS survey, have increased.

A December 2024 survey of the Social Weather Stations (SWS) shows that the percentage of families who saw themselves as poor reached 63 percent, up 4 points up from 59 percent in September 2024.

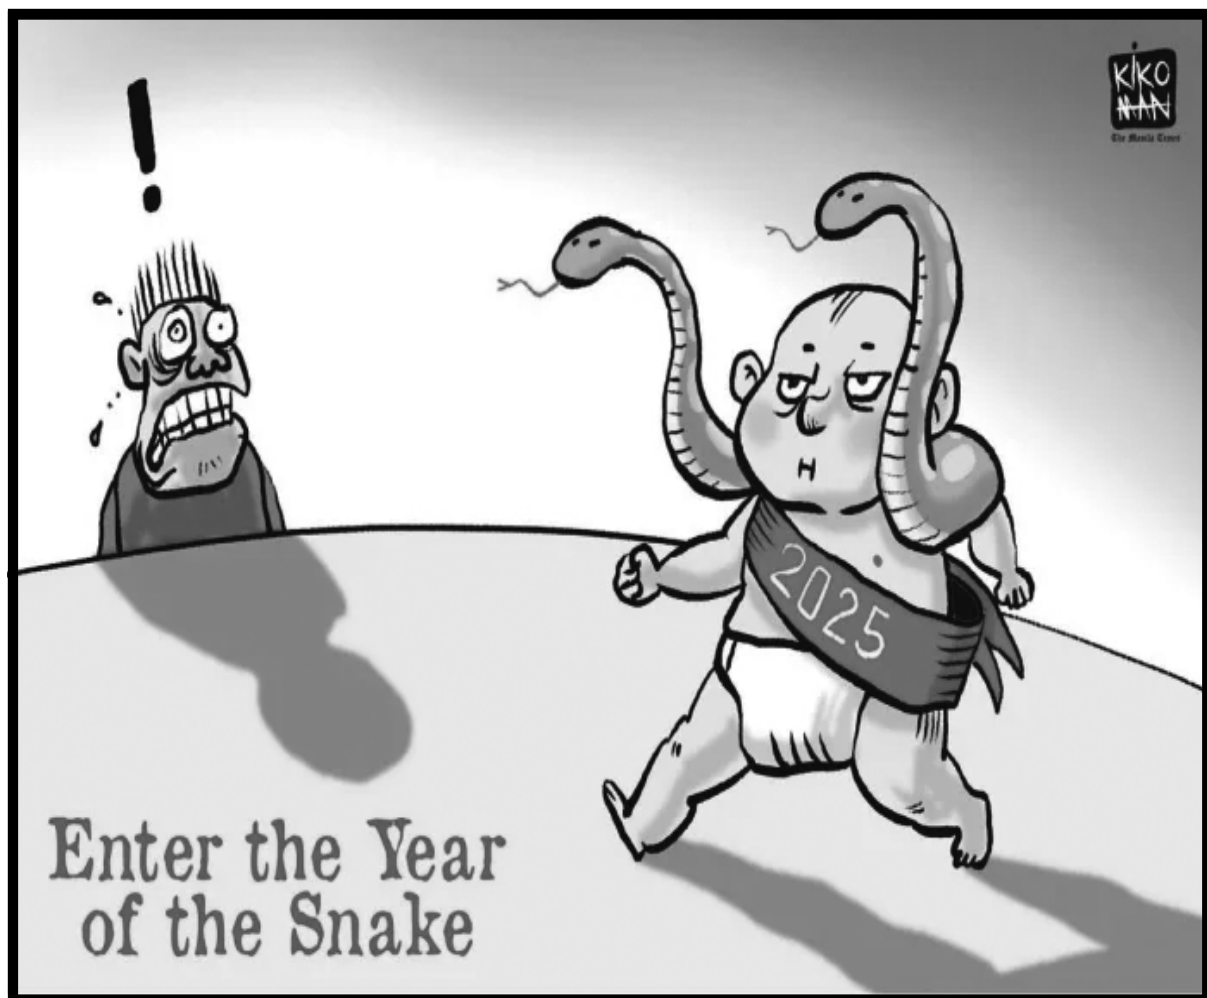

"The estimated numbers of Self-Rated Poor families were 17.4 million in December 2024 and 16.3 million in September 2024," which is the highest percentage of self-rated poor families in 21 years. In November 2003, only 64 percent rated themselves as poor. This number has been rising steadily for the third consecutive quarter since March 2024.

Another SWS survey conducted from Dec. 12 to 18, highlighted the persistent challenge of hunger. More Filipino families have experienced involuntary hunger—being hungry and not having anything to eat—in the last quarter of 2024. The results revealed that 25.9 percent of Filipino families experienced involuntary hunger, a three-point increase from 22.9 percent in the third quarter of 2024. This is also the highest hunger rate since the 30.7 percent peak during the Covid-19 lockdowns in September 2020.

SWS added that the 2024 annual hunger average of 20.2 percent was nearly double the 2023 annual average of 10.7 percent and just 0.9 percentage points below the record-high 2020 annual average of 21.1 percent.

The government has implemented several initiatives to combat hunger and poverty. One of them is the "Walang Gutom 2027: Food Stamp Program," launched in collaboration with the United Nations, which aims to provide food assistance to the most vulnerable populations.

The private sector and local communities have also initiated programs to address these challenges. Dozens of foundations and non-government organizations are involved in livelihood training programs for heads of families and feeding programs for malnourished children.

Despite these efforts, the persistence of hunger indicates the need for more comprehensive strategies. Addressing the root causes of food insecurity requires a multifaceted approach, including managing inflation, improving agricultural productivity, and ensuring equitable access to resources. Food assistance programs, in collaboration with the private sector, are essential in addressing hunger, particularly in regions with the highest levels of food insecurity.

The government's commitment to ending poverty by 2040, as outlined in the Ambisyon Natin 2040 vision, is a commendable goal. Achieving this vision will require sustained efforts, policy reforms, and the active participation of all sectors of society. By fostering collaboration between government agencies, private entities, and local communities, the Philippines can work toward a future where every Filipino has access to sufficient, nutritious food and the opportunity to lead a prosperous life.

Meanwhile, the private sector, where funding and implementation will not require many processes, can expand programs or create more innovative and sustainable programs to reduce poverty and hunger. One way to contribute to these efforts are more scholarship grants to provide education, which has shown to break the cycle of poverty.

Another is to buy local products to support small enterprises and provide more employment. Volunteering time to teach a skill to members of your barangay can provide livelihood opportunities. These seem like small efforts but when done by a multitude, it can create a difference in the lives of those who rate themselves as poor and hungry.

Pagod Ka Ba Lagi? Subukan Ito

Kung palagi kang pagod (fatigue), subukan itong mga payo at baka makatulong na sa iyo.

1. Magkaroon ng sapat na tulog sa gabi kung maaari ay 7 hanggang 8 oras na tulog na hindi naiistorbo.

2. Sundin and schedule ng pagtulog. Regular na matulog at gumising sa parehong oras araw-araw.

3. Bigyan ang sarili ng oras para mag-relax. Humingi ng tulong sa iba kung masyado ng marami ang trabaho o pagod na.

4. I-organize ang pang-araw-araw na schedule. Unahain ang mas importante gawin. Okay lang na hindi tapusin lahat.

5. Alamin ang mga bagay na nagdudulot sa iyo ng stress. Bawasan o iwasan ito.

6. Subukan mag-ehersisyo sa umaga. Ang ehersisyo ay nagbibigay ng lakas.

7. Paramihin ang sariwang hangin sa iyong bahay at trabaho. Ang sariwang hangin ay nagbibigay ng lakas.

8. Balansehin ang iyong kakainin. Isama dito ang pagkain ng maraming prutas, gulay, at whole grain. Kumain ng masustansyang almusal at huwag maggalipas ng gutom.

9. Kung sobrang sa timbang, mag-diyeta ng dahan-dahan. Ngunit iwasan ang sobrang pagbawas sa pagkain dahil baka lalo ka manghina.

10. Uminom ng 8-10 basong tubig. Kung ang iyong ihi ay malinaw ang kulay, ibig sabihin ay sapat ang iniinom na tubig, ngunit kung sobrang dilaw kinakailangan mo uminom ng mas maraming tubig.

11. Tingnan ang mga gamot na iniinom. May mga gamot ang may side effect na nagdudulot ng fatigue.

12. Itigil ang paninigarilyo. Ang paninigarilyo ay nakapagpapataas ng lebel ng pagod.

13. Bawasan o itigil ang pag-inom ng alak at kape. Ang mga ito ay naka-aapekto sa maayos na pagtulog.

Kung ang pagod ay patuloy pa rin kahit may sapat na pahinga at ito ay nagtagal ng 2 linggo o higit pa, maaaring may ibang sakit na kailangang gamutin. Kumonsulta sa iyong doktor.

Meanwhile, the training for Solana Heirloom Cafe concentrated on basic food hygiene, covering topics such as sanitary permits, health certificates, food quality and protection, primary production, establishment design (facilities and equipment), training and competence, establishment maintenance, cleaning and disinfection, pest control, personal hygiene, operation control, product information and consumer awareness, and the special provisions of P.D. 856.

were encouraged to apply for a license to operate from the Food and Drug Administration to enhance their business operations and demonstrate their commitment to producing safe and high-quality products.

The training aimed to not only improve their knowledge of food safety standards but also to empower them with the skills to improve their operational efficiency. Through this initiative, DOST-Batangas also hopes to foster a culture of food safety and sustainability within the local MSME sector and help these businesses remain competitive in the market. Moreover, the training emphasized the importance of continuous monitoring and assessment to ensure the long-term success of food safety practices. (By John Maico M. Hernandez)

HOW TO PLAY: Sudoku puzzle is made up of a 9-by-9 grid with nine 3-by-3 sub-grids called boxes. There are 9 rows, 9 columns and 9 boxes in every puzzle. The object of the game is to fill all squares in the grid with the correct number.

The rules are: • Every row, column and box must contain all the digits 1 to 9.

• Each number can only appear once in every row, column or box.

• Every puzzle has only one correct solution!

Did You Know?

DID YOU KNOW WHY WE YAWN?

The most popular, but likely wrong, theory is that yawning increases levels of oxygen to the brain. A more plausible theory: Yawning cools the brain down. A study conducted on mice found that as mice sucked in air, their jaws stretched—this increases blood flow to the brain. This combination of cooler air intake when yawning mixed with the blood flowing to the brain is thought to eventually cool the brain down.
