DTI 4-A Brings 12th Kalakal CALABARZON Trade Fair to Shangri-La Plaza, Showcasing Homegrown Excellence

The Department of Trade and Industry Region 4-A (CALABARZON), in partnership with its Provincial Offices in Cavite, Laguna, Batangas, Rizal, and Quezon, is set to host the 12th Kalakal CALABARZON: Gawa at Galing ng CALABARZON with the theme "Produktong CALABARZON: Likha ng Sipag, Bunga ng Husay." The event will take place at the Shangri-La Plaza Atrium in Ortigas Center, Mandaluyong City, from July 23 to 27, 2025.

First launched in 2014, Kalakal CALABARZON is an annual regional trade fair designed to provide a strategic marketing platform for micro, small, and medium enterprises (MSMEs) from the region. This year, 38 MSMEs will showcase a curated selection of premium, locally made products through a mall-based selling event facilitated by strong public-private partnerships. These participating enterprises have benefited from key DTI initiatives under the SME Development Division—including One Town, One Product (OTOP) Next Gen, Shared Service Facilities (SSF), Kapitid Mentor ME (KMME), and the Comprehensive Agrarian Reform Program (CARP). These programs have empowered MSMEs to elevate the quality, design, and packaging of their products, ranging from organic produce and eco-friendly goods to Halal-certified items, condiments, housewares, fashion accessories, wellness products, and processed food and beverages.

"Kalakal CALABARZON is more than a trade fair—it is a celebration of the region's resilience, creativity, and entrepreneurial spirit. Through this event, we aim to bridge our local MSMEs with wider markets and opportunities, while also

In his message, Governor Abeng Remulla extended his heartfelt gratitude to the people of Cavite for their continued trust and support. Among the areas of development he mentioned are tourism, agriculture, youth, education and sports development, accessible

"Sa bawat bayan at lungsod...isa lang ang direksyon nating lahat, paangat at sama-sama," Gov. Remulla stated.

Vice Governor Ram Bautista, in his inaugural address, echoed the commitment that the Sangguniang Panlalawigan will be sustainable, smart, and inclusive. He underscored the Sanggunian's role in formulating legislation that directly responds to the needs of Caviteños.

PTFOMS Hails Court's Acquittal of Bacolod Journalist in Libel Case

The Presidential Task Force on Media Security (PTFOMS) applauds the Bacolod City Regional Trial Court Branch 53's decision to acquit journalist Erwin "Ambo" Delilan, formerly of SunStar-Bacolod, after nearly two decades of legal proceedings.

The court determined the prosecution failed to prove libel charges beyond a reasonable doubt, charges that arose in 2005. Delilan's reporting on a dispute cited official complaints without additional commentary or malicious intent. This action was deemed to be within the realm of responsible journalism and protected by the constitutional freedom of the press.

"This ruling underscores a fundamental tenet of press freedom: journalists should not be penalized for reporting matters of public interest in good faith and without actual malice," said Undersecretary Jose Torres Jr., executive director of PTFOMS. "The law clearly demands a higher standard of proof in libel cases involving public

"Mr. Delilan's acquittal is a personal victory and a reaffirmation of the vital role the press plays in a democratic society," said Torres. "We commend the court's decision and reiterate our strong commitment to safeguarding journalists from harassment, intimidation, and prolonged legal battles meant to stifle critical reporting."

PTFOMS is committed to institutionalizing reforms to prevent the misuse of libel laws against the media and stands ready to support media practitioners in their pursuit of safe, ethical, and fearless journalism.

Earlier this week, PTFOMS praised the establishment by the Philippine Press Institute of Media-Citizen Councils as "platforms for dialogue, oversight, and mutual understanding."

The Media-Citizen Council is a multi-sectoral, community-based, and independent group that aims to resolve conflicts between and among media and those who complain about inaccuracies in news reports via mediation through Appropriate Dispute Resolution.

It works on the framework of the Philippine Initiative under the Philippine Plan of Action for the Safety of Journalists and on the framework of independent media self-co-regulation, media accountability and safety, ethical and responsible journalism, good journalism as a public good, and strategic engagements with various sectors in the community, including the local government units, government agencies, and law enforcers.

PH performing well on SDGs, but challenges remain

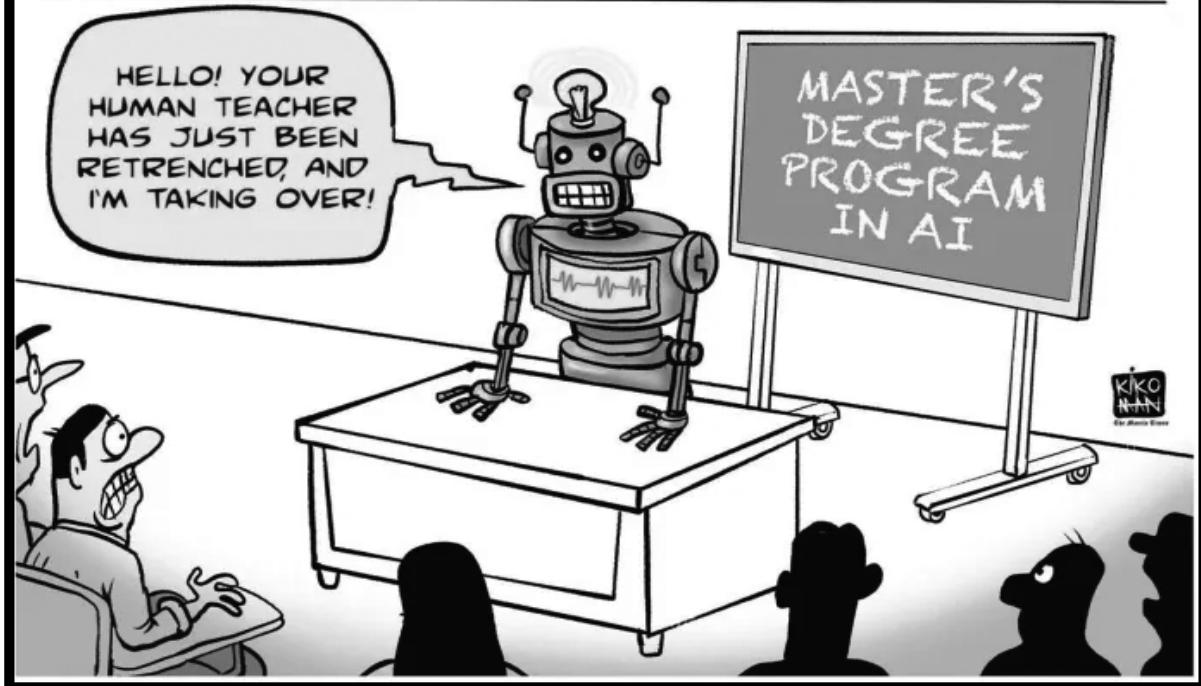

As we noted in yesterday's editorial, the just-published 2025 Sustainable Development Report has singled out the Philippines for performing reasonably well in pursuit of the 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), amid a global situation that is otherwise discouraging. While we can and should acknowledge our country's progress as a bit of welcome good news, there are still many challenges to be overcome and much work to be done.

The Sustainable Development Report, whose lead author this year is the noted economist Jeffrey Sachs, reveals that global progress toward achieving the SDGs adopted in 2015 is falling behind, with less than 20 percent of the targets for 2030 on track to be achieved. However, global averages do not tell the whole story; as the report notes, there are wide disparities between different regions and individual countries. The Southeast Asian region is one of the bright spots; here, progress toward the SDG targets is faster than in any other part of the world, although many of the 2030 goals will still be missed.

In the overall rankings, the Philippines stands at 88th of 167 countries, having a score of 68.3 out of 100; Finland is ranked first in the world, with a score of 87. Within the ASEAN, the Philippines trails the other big economies in the region — Thailand, Vietnam, Singapore, Indonesia and Malaysia, respectively — but has made the third-fastest progress of all the countries in East, South and Southeast Asia since 2015, adding 8.6 points to its overall score in that time. Only Nepal and Cambodia have progressed faster, and that can be attributed to their being poorer countries that have benefited from a much greater degree of attention from international development partners.

The Philippines is also acknowledged by the Sustainable Development Report as being among the top 20 countries in terms of its commitment to multilateralism. The Philippines has ratified more than 90 percent of major UN treaties, aligns with the majority vote in the UN General Assembly more than 80 percent of the time, and is among the nine large countries classified as the least militarized in terms of foreign and domestic policy.

With regard to the 17 individual SDGs, the Philippines has put forth a sincere effort to follow the global ideal since 2015. More than 99 percent of the socioeconomic data necessary for tracking SDG progress is provided by the government, and since 2015, the government has completed four voluntary national reviews of its SDG progress.

The Philippines has already achieved the 2030 target for one of the SDGs, that being SDG12, "Responsible production and consumption." The country is making progress on 10 other SDGs, although perhaps not quite enough in all cases to reach the 2030 targets. On five others, however, progress is stagnating, and on one, SDG13, or "Climate action," the Philippines is regressing. This, however, is largely a function of the country's failure so far to enact any legal framework for carbon accounting or a carbon tax.

The five other SDGs where there is clearly a need for greater attention and effort are SDG3, "Good health and well-being"; SDG6, "Clean water and sanitation"; SDG7, "Affordable and clean energy"; SDG11, "Sustainable cities and communities"; and SDG16, "Peace, justice and strong institutions."

The reminder of these areas of concern and their associated challenges comes to us at an opportune moment, as we are hosting The Manila Times' Midyear Economic Forum today at the New World Hotel in Makati. All of the abovementioned SDGs, with the possible exception of the last, are as many opportunities for expanded investment and economic activity as they are development problems that need to be solved.

TAMANG DIET PARA MAKAIWAS SA DIABETES

Alam n'yo ba na ang diabetes ay napakasama at nakamamatay? Kaya kung kaya ay may diabetes, piliting makontrol ito. Magagawa natin ito sa pamamagitan ng wastong pagkain. Heto ang mga tips na dapat tandaan.

1. Walang "mild" sa diabetes.

Kung ikaw ay may diabetes, ibig sabihin ay 50% ng mga selula sa pancreas (beta cells na gumagawa ng insulin) ay posibleng nasira na. Dahil dito, tumataas ang iyong asukal sa dugo ng lampas sa normal na 105 mg/dL.

2. Umiwas sa matatamis at matataba.

Ayon kay Dr. Augusto Litonjua, tinaguriang Ama ng Diabetes Medicine sa Pilipinas, hindi naman lahat ng pagkain ay pinagbabawal sa diabetes. Bawasan lang ang matatamis at ma-kolesterol na pagkain.

3. Tumangi sa Ice Tea, Soft Drinks at Capuccino. Mag-tubig na lang.

Alam n'yo ba na ang pag-inom ng isang basong Ice Tea bawat araw ay nakapagdaragdag sa inyong timbang ng 1 libra bawat linggo? Ang 1 basong soft drink naman ay may 7 kutsaritang asukal. Grabe ang tamis! Kaibigan, tubig lang talaga ang tunay na Zero calories.

4. Mansanas at peras ang pang-diyeta na prutas. Akala ng marami ay "all you can eat" ang mga prutas. Mali! Matamis at nakatataba ang mga prutas tulad ng mangga, pineapple, ubas, abukado at lychees. Hinay-hinay lang. Kung gusto mo ng mangga, isang pisngi lang ay sapat na sa isang kainan. Pagdating sa ubas, 6 na piraso lang ang limit mo.

Ang mga prutas na puwedeng kainin ay ang mansanas, peras at saging. Ngunit, huwag ubusin ang isang piling!

5. Puwede ang 1 rice at 1 ulam.

May mga pasyenteng hindi na kumakain ng kanin. Hindi po ito maganda. Sa katagalan ay hihina kayo at mawawalan ng sigla. Kailan din ng katawan natin ang carbohydrates para sa balanseng diyeta. Ang solusyon ay ang paglimita sa dami ng pagkain. Isang platitong ulam o gulay, na may 1 cup rice ay OK na, di ba? Good luck po sa pag-kontrol ng inyong diabetes.

(D&F Foods LLC), and her manpower and recruitment firm Manpower Group Philippines Company — all joining hands in the spirit of giving and shared humanity.

This year's celebration carried deeper significance as it also marked Ms. Anna Donita's 10th year of selfless service and unwavering support to the mission of the Arnold Janssen Kalinga Center, where for the past decade, she has stood as a silent pillar - not seeking praise, but a living proof that when love is genuine, it moves mountains.

Beyond the celebration lies a message, a wake-up call to the nation, especially to those who sit in the halls of government, clothed in power yet empty in service. While the poor remain hungry, dirty, and hopeless in the streets, some officials continue to wear masks of concern, faking aid, showing up only for photo opportunities, and filling their pockets with what belongs to the people. These are not public servants, they are obstacles to the real progress our country desperately needs.

May this day, this act of sincere service, serve as an awakening to those who have forgotten what true leadership means. May they be reminded that their roles are not for privilege but for sacrifice, not for titles, but for transformation.

As Michael Jackson once said in his song "Heal the World": "There are people dying, if you care enough for the living, make a better place for you and for me."

This celebration is a living echo of that truth — a reminder that healing the world starts with healing our communities, one act of genuine love at a time.

And perhaps, this is the greatest truth we must all embrace: If money is your main reason for pursuing business, you may build profits but never true success. But if your heart is set on serving humanity, on living out your company's mission and vision, on carrying not just your own cross but help-

Outdoor activities fuel new growth in rural China

During this year's May Day holiday, outdoor sports and travel captured wide public interest and participation across China.

At Shijiu Lake in Nanjing, east China's Jiangsu province, a young visitor transitioned from a fishing lure session to stargazing through a telescope. Nestled in the Aba Tibetan and Qiang autonomous prefecture, southwest China's Sichuan province, the Siguniang Mountain scenic area launched over 10 outdoor adventure routes, including hiking, mountain trekking, and rock climbing, catering to outdoor enthusiasts of all ages.

In China, over 400 million people engage in outdoor activities. The development of outdoor sports delivers wide-ranging societal benefits. It fulfills the growing public demand for physical wellness, advances the Chinese national fitness campaign, stimulates associated industries, and presents vast potential for future development.

A growing number of outdoor sports events and leisure experiences are taking root in scenic destinations across the country.

In Shangri-la, southwest China's Yunnan province, a network of hiking and cycling trails serves as venues for prominent events such as the Tour of Yunnan International Road Cycling Race and the Yunnan Plateau Lakes and Mountains Series.

In Nanxun, Huzhou, east China's Zhejiang province, visitors enjoy activities ranging from nocturnal fishing and hot-air ballooning to orienteering through ancient towns.

In Chongli, Zhangjiakou, Hebei province in north China, night skiing enables thrill-seekers to race down snow-covered slopes under a star-filled sky, evoking the sensation of flight just above the earth..

These diverse outdoor experiences act as a powerful engine for transforming picturesque natural environments into sources of sustainable economic development.

China is steadily promoting the development of outdoor sports destinations to ensure the timely achievement of its goal to build around 100 high-quality outdoor sports destinations by 2030. With its vast territory and spectacular landscapes, the country is well-positioned to leverage its world-class natural resources in this endeavor.

Outdoor tourism development also dovetails with China's comprehensive rural vitalization strategy. In Xishui county, Huanggang, Hubei province, a rural triathlon combining swimming, road cycling, and cross-country running was held. The event catalyzed economic activity, with online and offline sales of agricultural products exceeding 5.8 million yuan ($807,737), a year-on-year surge of 230 percent.

In the scenic Canglu Valley in Yunnan province's Dali Bai autonomous prefecture, surrounded by lush mountains, a tourism development model centered on outdoor leisure and lifestyles attracted more than 70,000 visitors in 2024, generating around 3 million yuan in consumption.

Traditionally, rural areas dense with forests, rivers, and mountains were deemed economically unsuitable for agricultural or industrial development. Today, many of these regions are leveraging their natural endowments to develop premium outdoor destinations, thereby creating new opportunities for local growth.

High-quality outdoor destinations not only stimulate local cultural and tourism development, but also help expand related industries.

The Chinese outdoor apparel industry, for instance, is experiencing rapid growth. In Zhejiang, a "three-hour supply circle" for manufacturing outdoor jackets has emerged: composite fabrics from Jiaojiang in Taizhou, waterproof zippers from Linhai, fleece liners from Keqiao in Shaoxing, and final assembly in Sanmen. This close-knit supply chain exemplifies how the integration of sports and commerce is accelerating industrial synergy, with supply and demand mutually reinforcing.

In the Guangdong-Hong Kong-Macao Greater Bay Area, novice surfers ride the waves under professional guidance. Along the Yellow River, rally races deliver pulse-pounding excitement. In Hubei province, a digital outdoor sports map is enhancing smart infrastructure and services. What were once niche or fringe activities are now becoming part of everyday life.

By turning "small sports" into "big industries," and combining proactive government support with dynamic market mechanisms, China is turning innovative concepts into tangible benefits. (By Zhou Renjie, People's Daily)
