Cavite Service Caravan reaches Naic, delivers vital government services

The Provincial Government of Cavite continued its commitment to bringing accessible and responsive public services closer to communities as the Cavite Service Caravan successfully rolled out its fifth leg on September 1, 2026, at Naic Town Plaza.

Led by Governor Abeng Remulla, the service caravan further strengthened the provincial government's commitment to inclusive and people-centered governance by delivering a wide range of frontline services directly to Caviteños.

The one-stop caravan brought together provincial government offices, national government agencies, and partner organizations to provide a comprehensive array of programs and assistance designed to address the immediate needs of residents, particularly those with limited access to essential government services.

Among the key services offered were free medical consultations, dental and oral health care, laboratory services including electrocardiogram (ECG) and fasting blood sugar tests, pharmacy assistance, fluoride varnish application for children, and emergency medical support to ensure prompt response to health-related concerns.

President Marcos Advances Access to Quality Health Care as PhilHealth–St. Luke's Formalize Landmark Partnership

President Ferdinand Marcos Jr. advances efforts to expand access to quality health care as PhilHealth and St. Luke's Medical Center – Global City formalize a partnership through a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA), with the Department of Health (DOH) and Department of Social Welfare and Development (DSWD), supporting the initiative.

President Ferdinand Marcos Jr., DOH Secretary Dr. Edwin M. Mercado, and DSWD Secretary Rex Gatchalian graced the signing ceremony with PhilHealth Acting President and CEO Dr. Beverly Lorraine C. Ho and St. Luke's Medical Center President and CEO Dr. Dennis P. Serrano.

In his key address, President Marcos Jr. underscored the critical role of public-private partnerships in expanding access to healthcare. He noted that stronger partnerships with private institutions like St. Luke's Medical Center – Global City help ensure Filipinos have access to world-class medical care under PhilHealth's No Co-Pay policy for basic accommodation.

"Walang pinipiling tao ang sakit. Anyone can suddenly face the medical emergency that requires immediate treatment or specialized care. This administration remains committed to making quality health care accessible and affordable to more Filipinos. Malinaw ang ating hangarin, hindi dapat maging hadlang ang kakulangan sa pera para makakuha ng kinakailangang atensiyong medikal," President Marcos Jr. expressed.

The agreement will facilitate collaboration on key healthcare reforms, the establishment of performance-based incentive systems for healthcare providers, and the support of evidence-based policymaking and research. In addition, St. Luke's — Global City will maintain at least ten percent (10%) of its total bed capacity as basic or ward accommodation, enabling access to the hospital's advanced medical services with zero co-payment for eligible members and covered cases and services.

"The Universal Health Care Act guarantees every Filipino immediate eligibility and access to necessary care whenever they need it. On our end, PhilHealth will ensure that shared commitments are not just admirable but sustainable through clearer benchmarks, recognition of efficiency, and appropriate payment design as intended by the UHC Act," said Dr. Ho.

Meanwhile Dr. Serrano stated, "We recognize the vital role that PhilHealth plays in providing financial protection and expanding access to healthcare. By working together, we can help eligible patients better understand and maximize their benefits while making their healthcare journey more seamless and responsive."

The collaboration reflects a growing role for public-private partnerships in shaping healthcare reforms, with both institutions working toward practical solutions that strengthen the National Health Insurance Program and improve the delivery of health services.

Turning Food Safety Knowledge into Better Practices at MJS Foods

For food businesses, good products begin with safe and proper practices behind every step of preparation and production.

On August 24, MJS Foods Inc. strengthened the food safety practices of its team through a Training on Food Safety and Good Manufacturing Practices (GMP) held at Aruma Coffee Lounge, Poblacion, Iligan City.

A total of 17 food handlers, including two owners, participated in the training. The activity is part of DOST's continuing support to food businesses in applying safe and proper ways of handling and producing food.

The training covered common food hazards, proper food handling, personal hygiene, cleaning and sanitation, record-keeping, and Good Manufacturing Practices. These practices help businesses maintain cleaner work areas, prevent food contamination, improve consistency in production, and ensure that food is handled properly from preparation to serving or processing.

For MJS Foods, the knowledge gained can be applied to both its restaurant and food processing operations, helping the company strengthen its food safety practices and work toward safer, more consistent products for its customers.

Safer food starts with better practices. Connect with your nearest DOST Office to learn about available training and consultancy services. (DOST Lanao del Norte)

Climate prognosis worsens

EARLIER this month, the American Meteorological Society (AMS) released its annual State of the Climate report for the year 2025, and the findings contain almost no good news about the state of the Earth's environment. As we grapple with the consequences of an ever-worsening climate here in the Philippines — including stark reminders such as the rains and flooding that afflicted large areas of the country earlier this month, and from which some communities have yet to recover — data such as that provided by the AMS report is invaluable in planning adaptation. And perhaps, just as importantly, it provides solid, evidence-based rejection of the irresponsible and dangerous assertions of some political and opinion leaders who seek to downplay or interfere with sensible climate action.

Some of the more alarming findings of the State of the Climate report include the world's oceans reaching record high average temperatures for the third year in a row, which is even more significant when one considers that these measurements were recorded before the onset of the current El Niño conditions. The report also discovered that important carbon sinks in northern forests and tundra are now releasing more carbon dioxide (CO₂) than they absorb, due to warming temperatures melting the arctic permafrost, and that the Greenland Ice Sheet, the second-largest reserve of fresh water on Earth, lost about 129 metric gigatons of ice due to melting — that is 129 billion metric tons, or 129 trillion liters, equal to about 15 months' consumption for the entire Philippines. To visualize the ice loss in a different way, the AMS and United States National Oceanographic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) scientists that prepared the report said the ice lost from Greenland would form a cube of about five kilometers' length and width per side.

The report also found that global cloud cover in 2025 was the second-lowest since satellite observations began in 1980, which contributed to higher global temperatures due to less solar radiation being reflected back into space. In addition to less reflective cloud cover, the report also noted a significant degree of "surface darkening" on the planet, due to large areas being burned by wildfires, less snowfall that melted earlier in the year than previously, and retreating glaciers in mountainous regions. Darker land surfaces absorb more heat, leading to a destructive loop of ever-increasing temperatures. Along with higher temperatures, ocean acidification, which is one of the side effects of warmer conditions, as the oceans absorb about 90 percent of the combined solar radiation and excess heat produced by human activity, accelerated in 2025 to an average of 0.45 percent per decade. This is increasingly disruptive to marine food chains, which eventually lead to reduced food supplies for people.

Focus on adaptation

The most worrisome conclusion from the report is that none of these effects are slowing down, and in fact are accelerating in most cases. The study highlights the correlation between the continuing increase in CO₂ emissions — which have been higher every year, despite efforts to reduce them, for at least the last 30 years — and the increasingly dire climate indicators, although it carefully avoids using the term "climate change," perhaps to avoid ideological criticism from governments such as the US.

In a statement attached to the report, Alan Sealls, president of the AMS, said the report's key takeaway was that climate extremes that impact communities and economies "show no signs of diminishing." That means continued climate disruptions, particularly the rising intensity and persistence of extremes shouldn't be underestimated "compared to what the past delivered."

Sealls' advice is stark and to the point. "Take personal action in becoming more resilient," he said, "and encourage your political representatives to protect and fortify your community, knowing the changes that are happening."

That is good advice for the Philippines; the disastrous and somewhat unexpected flooding that we have recently experienced can be considered a sign of things to come, and a warning that such events are only going to become more intense and more frequent. As the Philippines is not a significant contributor to global warming, being the source of only about 0.7 percent of global emissions, our focus should be on adaptation — learning to live with the effects of a changing climate — rather than mitigation.

For the most part, our current government policy acknowledges this. However, much work needs to be done to prioritize activities correctly, curb corruption and streamline development processes.

Tubig Ang Lunas Sa Sakit Mo

Mag-ingat sa maduduming water o contaminated water. Puwede itong makamatay. Kapag madumi ang tubig na nainom mo, puwede kang magka-typhoid, diarrhea at hepatitis A. Delikado ang mga sakit na ito. Huwag makipagsapalaran at baka tayo ma-ospital. Alam kong medyo mahal, pero uminom ng bottled water o purified water lamang.

Ano ang mga klase ng tubig?

1. Tubig sa poso o spring — Ang tubig na galing dito ay nakatago sa ilalim ng bato at lupa. Dahil dito, may halo itong minerals tulad ng calcium at magnesium. Okay lang ito kung malinis ang pinanggalingan.
2. Mineral water — Nakabote itong tubig pero galing din sa poso o spring water. May minerals ito tulad ng calcium at magnesium na mabuti naman sa katawan. Pero dapat mag-ingat lang ang mga may sakit sa bato (kidney stones).
3. Distilled water — Kapag distilled water, mababa na ito sa minerals. Ligas ito at paborito kong inumin.
4. Purified water — Ang ibig lang sabihin ay dumaan ang tubig sa isang purifier o pansala. Basta malinis ang mga tubig, puwede naman inumin.

Paano ang tamang pag-inom ng tubig?

Kailangan ng katawan ang 8 hanggang 12 basong tubig sa maghapon. Sa mga kababaihan, wala pong tawad! Dahil kung hindi ay baka kumulubot ang iyong kutis at mukha. Panlaban sa wrinkles ang pag-inom ng sapat na tubig.

DOKTOR NG MASA

ni Dr. Willie Ong

Nililinis din ng tubig ang mga dumi natin sa katawan. Makaiwas tayo sa pagkakaroon ng sakit sa bato at impeksiyon sa kidney. Nakababawas din ng pangangasim ng iyong sikmura kung regular ang pag-inom mo.

Kapag kulang ka sa tubig, mahihirapan ang iyong utak at hindi ka gaanong makakaisip. Baka ma-dehydrate ka, lalo na sobrang init sa Pilipinas.

Kapag nanunuyo ang iyong mata, lalamunan o ilong, huwag bumili agad ng gamot. Uminon muna ng maraming tubig.

Tandaan, uminom ng tubig kahit hindi ka nauhaw. Ang mga may edad ay hindi gaanong nakararamdam ng uhaw, kaya painumin sila ng tubig.

Tubig lang ang pinaka-healthy sa lahat. Huwag uminom ng soft drinks, iced tea, alak at kape. Lalo ka lang mauhaw sa mga iyan.

Isang paalala lang: Sa mga may altapresyon at sakit sa puso, magtanong muna sa inyong doktor bago uminom ng maraming tubig.

Huwag magreklamo kung ihi kayo ng ihi. Isipin lang na nailalabas mo ang mga dumi sa iyong katawan. Masama po ang magpigil ng ihi dahil baka magka-impeksiyon ka. Tubig lang ang sadyang sagot sa karamdaman mo.

Employment and livelihood opportunities were likewise highlighted through job matching activities, career coaching sessions, and assistance from participating agencies such as TESDA, PSA, DTI, SSS, OWWA, PNP, Pag-ibig, Philhealth and the Land Bank of the Philippines. Entrepreneurship development, cooperative assistance, and the promotion of locally made products through a trade fair also formed part of the caravan.

The activity also extended agricultural support services, including the distribution of vegetable seeds and seedlings, educational materials, and technical assistance for farmers and fisherfolk to help strengthen local food production and sustainable livelihoods.

Residents also benefited from various social services, including social welfare assistance, family planning counseling, legal aid, and specialized support for persons with disabilities. Veterinary services such as free anti-rabies vaccination, deworming, and pet consultations were likewise made available.

To further promote digital inclusion, the caravan featured digital literacy programs, internet connectivity services, and information booths that raised awareness of various government programs and services.

Joining Governor Remulla during the sixth leg of the Cavite Service Caravan was Vice Governor Ram Revilla Bautista. They were warmly welcomed by Naic officials led by Vice Mayor Jacinta Remulla, and some members of the Sangguniang Bayan.

As the Cavite Service Caravan continues its province-wide rollout, the Provincial Government of Cavite remains steadfast in its mission to make government services more accessible, efficient, and responsive while strengthening local government capabilities through strategic assistance and resource support, ensuring that every Caviteño has greater access to quality public services closer to home.

Highway, in cooperation with volunteer health professionals and with the support of private-sector partners and sponsors.

A major part of the success of the medical mission was the support of Hotel Sogo and Bulacan Journal, which served as the Major Sponsors of the program. Figaro Foundation and Anghel Kape also extended their support as partners in providing the community with much-needed healthcare assistance.

According to the organizers, the medical mission aimed to bring essential healthcare services closer to the residents, particularly families who may have limited access to free medical consultations and assistance.

"The true spirit of the Feast of San Roque is not only about celebration, but also about serving and helping others. Through this medical mission, we want our fellow residents to feel that they are not alone and that there are people willing to extend a helping hand."

Carrying the theme, "United in Service for a Healthier Community," the activity highlighted the importance of cooperation among organizations, the private sector, healthcare professionals, and community members in promoting the health and well-being of everyone.

The successful medical mission was one of the activities prepared for the Feast of San Roque Highway, which seeks to bring together faith, unity, and community service.

At the conclusion of the program, the Hermandad de los Festejos de San Roque Highway expressed its heartfelt gratitude to all the doctors, medical volunteers, Hotel Sogo, Bulacan Journal, Figaro Foundation, and Anghel Kape, as well as the other partners and residents who participated and contributed to the success of the healthcare initiative.

More than 200 patients were served, but beyond the number is the true success of the activity—the unity of the community in serving others and working toward a healthier community. — Nelson Santos

The recognition, presented during the summit held in Clark Freeport Zone, Pampanga, acknowledges NLEX's contribution to the public dissemination of real-time AQI data from four Regional Ambient Air Quality Monitoring Stations through its LED billboard.

Through the partnership, the digital billboard displays real-time air quality data from monitoring stations in San Fernando, Meycauyan, Clark, and Zambales, making environmental information more visible and accessible to motorists and the public.

"We thank the DENR for this opportunity. Accountability starts with awareness, and by utilizing the LED billboard, we are making vital environmental data highly visible and accessible to everyone," said NLEX President and General Manager Luis S. Reñon.

The initiative forms part of NLEX Corporation's continuing commitment to environmental sustainability and public awareness. Among its other efforts are the "Road to Less Waste" initiative, which promotes proper waste disposal and recycling, and tree-planting activities that have resulted in more than 200,000 trees planted across the NLEX corridor. NLEX also continues to work with government agencies and local government units on various environmental initiatives.

NLEX Corporation is a subsidiary of Metro Pacific Tollways Corporation (MPTC), the toll road arm of Metro Pacific Investments Corporation (MPIC).

MANY DISNEY CHARACTERS WEAR GLOVES TO KEEP ANIMATION SIMPLE

Walt Disney might have been the first to put gloves on his characters, as seen in 1929's The Opry House, starring Mickey Mouse. The gloves distinguished Mickey's hands from his body and became part of his official stage costume. But in addition to being easier to animate, there's another reason for the gloves: In the Encyclopedia of Walt Disney's Animated Characters, Walt Disney is quoted as saying, "We didn't want him to have mouse hands, because he was supposed to be more human. So we gave him gloves."
